

Dear Friends,

September 14th marked the one year anniversary of the home going of my dear James. I'm constantly reminded of the legacy of faith and love he left me in those 55 years of marriage.

Here is a story in his memory to emphasize to all of us we must share the good news of Christ's saving grace until Jesus comes.

Thank you for all your kind words, thoughts and prayers for me this last year. God bless you richly.

Delores

Go Share It

Church was over. I stood to exit the building. A good friend and brother in Christ, Elliot Leavell, rushed down the aisle to where I stood. "Delores," he said, "James has deposited so much into you, you need to be sharing it." His message was short and spoken with urgency. I later realized this succinct directive was prophetic and I should not treat it lightly.

Since James went to be with his Lord, I had noticed during my times of prayer and reading God's Word something new began happening. Deeper Spiritual revelation of the Scripture began to download into my soul. "That would make a good sermon." Or, "That would make a great blog," I thought. God was indeed showing me to be "out sharing it" was feasible; in fact, it was His will.

Shortly thereafter, I resumed a women's ministry I had experienced God's favor upon years ago: a monthly trans-denominational luncheon at a local restaurant. After that step of faith, invitations came to speak at other women's meetings and churches. Thus, God was thrusting me into public ministry and opening doors to "be out sharing it."

Isn't this exactly what the apostle Paul meant in Philippians 4:9? "Those things which you have both learned and received and heard, and seen in me, do: and the God of peace shall be with you." I have a desire to put into practice what I have heard, seen and learned from James Fields.

Who has mentored you? From whom have you learned how to be a Christ follower? The Lord needs you now to take that which was invested into you and pass on to others. Then you can say with Paul the Apostle, "For what I received I passed on to you," 1 Corinthians 15:3.

Not everyone will preach from a pulpit, but every Christian has a wonderful story to tell of what God has done for them. Would you ask God to show you a new platform of ministry? In Matthew chapter 10 Jesus gave his disciples authority to "go share" His ministry. "Freely you have received," he said. "freely give."

What is the message God has written on your heart? Freely and without inhibition "go share it" to the many spiritually lost and hurting people who are waiting to hear a message of hope. Whether in a public venue or one on one, you will please our Lord as you "go share it!"

Be greatly encouraged!

Delores Fields
