- V. When you're worn out by waiting on the Lord.
  - A. God will renew your energy to wait.
    1. The act of waiting on the Lord exhausted Joram's emotional energy, II Kings 6:33
    2. Life's problems filled his thoughts with "impossibilities" and crowded out thoughts about the Lord.
    3. As Joram staggered under the heavy wait of doubt, God sent His Word, II Kings 7:1
    4. This Word renewed the king's energy to wait, Psalm 19:7; I Thessalonians 2:13.
      - a. Joram wanted to quit waiting.
      - b. God committed Himself to re-energizing Joram, Isaiah 40:31
    5. Joram's decision to wait freed God to work in his behalf, Isaiah 64:4; II Kings 7:6-7
  - B. God strengthens your grip on Him, II Kings 7:1.
    1. Joram was ready to walk away from both God's promise and God's person, II Kings 6:33.
    2. But God wanted to be valued supremely, unconditionally.
    3. So, He appealed to Joram – "Hold on to Me", II Kings 7:1.
    4. When you feel worn out, let go of the promise and hold on to the Promise-Giver, Psalm 73:25; Philippians 3:8.
    5. Then, your relationship with the Lord benefits from waiting.
    6. You become a "one desire" lover of God, Psalm 27:4.
- VI. The reward for those who wait, II kings 7:16.
